GUNNING PLEADS
GUILTY TO CHARGESentenced by Judge Sparks Today to Term of 2 to 14 Years in the State Prison

TO BEGIN TERM THURSDAY

Fine of $500 is Also Imposed by Court on Defendant. Who Was Unable to Give Bond

Carl L. Gunning, who was arrested yesterday in Indianapolis on a charge of embezzlement, and who failed to provide the $9,000 bond, this morning entered a plea of guilty to the charge and Judge Sparks imposed a fine of $500 and sentenced him to the state prison for a term of years not less than two nor more than fourteen.

Mr. Gunning stated that he was 31 years old, and because of his age, he was ordered committed to the Michigan City prison. Sheriff Jones this morning made arrangements to take him in the morning.

Mr. Gunning was quietly notified Sunday about an indictment being returned against him, and he appeared here Monday with intentions of providing the $1,000 bond, which was previously stated would be imposed. It was later learned by the court that the amount embezzled was more than $500 which was charged by the grand jury, and he was ordered brought here from Indianapolis at once.

When Gunning and Sheriff Jones arrived yesterday from Indianapolis, the defendant then did not seem to realize the seriousness of the charge, according to the sheriff, who stated that as they entered Rushville, Gunning remarked that he would get off at Sexton street, and come down town in the afternoon. Sheriff Jones then told him that Judge Sparks had ordered him brought here, and he consented to accompany the sheriff to the court house.

Gunning then learned that his bond was advanced to $9,000, because the exact amount of his indebtedness was said to reach almost that amount. Later in the afternoon, when he was unable to provide bond, he stated that he would enter a plea of guilty, but Judge Sparks was out of the city, and he was arraigned this morning.

Gunning is the first prisoner to be examined by a physician for entrance into the prison. The last session.

LOVE LETTERS ARE NOT
ADMITTED AS EVIDENCEJudge Champion's Ruling in Hamon
Murder Case Regarded as Blow To Defense

DEATH PENALTY NOT ASKED

(By United Press)

Ardmore, Okla., Mar. 16.—Love letters written by Jake Hamon to his protegee, Clara Smith Hamon, were ruled insufficient evidence in Clara's trial for murder today.

Judge Champion said the letters introduced by the defense were not sufficient evidence. The ruling was a blow to the defense case.

Clara looked much relieved when she entered the court room this morning after yesterday's trial. She was accompanied by Mrs. Jennie Sharple, an evangelist, who prayed with her during the morning before the court opened. Clara's expression was more complacent and she laughed and chattered with "Wild Bill" McLean her attorney.

The state closed its case after hearing testimony by a few witnesses during the morning. Prosecutor Freeling said he would not ask the death penalty in closing his statement. He said he believed he would get a quicker conviction if he asked a lighter penalty.

It was believed the case would reach the jury late tonight or tomorrow. Attorneys for Clara believe she saved herself by her story to the jury—that she was her own best witness. The court recessed until 3 o'clock to give the attorneys time to prepare their arguments.

NO DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING

Showers of Hail Didn't Injure Fruit Trees, Reports State

The severe lightning of Tuesday night, the first of the season, caused no great damage in Rushville or at other points in the county, so far as could be learned today.

The visitation of lightning was accompanied by several showers of hail, but reports today indicated that the fruit trees were not injured. The lightning caused the lights to go out in several parts of the city, causing some inconvenience, especially in the business district, crossed wires resulted in the fire bell ringing incessantly until it could be cut out.

TWO LOYAL FANS HOSTS

Permanent Organization is Formed and Professional Coach Will be Hired Next Year

A banquet was tendered the members of the Odd Fellows basketball team last night at the Scanlan hotel, and the basket tossers held a business session along with the dinner, when it was decided to make the organization a permanent affair, and elected E. I. Higgs manager, and Russel Titsworth, captain.

The banquet was given to the team, manager and a few friends by Frank McIlwaine and Charles Brown, who also were loyal supporters of the team during the season.

The banquet was held at 7:30 and a chicken dinner was served with all the accessories, including a long toast list, in which each of the players was assigned a topic. Mr. McIlwaine acted as toastmaster.

As the meeting went on, much enthusiasm was displayed and a permanent organization was voted upon and each member pledged himself for service next year. Monthly meetings also will be held during the summer months in order to keep the organization intact.

When the season opens next fall, only the strongest teams in the state will be booked, according to the decision reached last night. It also was agreed that in order to make a successful team, a coach would have to be secured, and plans will be made later on, in which a hired professional coach from some college will teach the local squad basketball at least one practice a week.

The nine players who attended the affair, and their respective toasts were as follows: "The Manager", Ralph Martin; "Sectional Tourney", Bryce Stoops; "Next Year", John Keating; "The Odd Fellows", Lowell Henley; "Playing Back Guard", Harry Petry; "Why We Need a Coach", Alvin Shaw; "The Press", Halbert Brown; "Need of Consistent Practice", Donnie Hillgoss; "Brown and McIlwaine and the Fans", Russell Titsworth; "The Team, It's Record", E. I. Higgs.

The team had a successful career during the season, winning 19 out of 26 games, and scored 742 points in all, against 566 for opponents. The locals averaged 28½ points to a game, which as a rule is sufficient to win any ball game. Some of the teams defeated were Greensburg twice, Shelbyville twice, Columbus twice, Carthage three times, Blue Ridge twice, and several single victories.

The basketball team also rendered a vote of thanks to the Daily Republican and the Rush County News for the support given the team by the press.

The guests at the banquet included manager Higgs and the nine players, Arnold Orme, Knowles Newhouse, Andrew Moore and the two men who acted as hosts, Mr. McIlwaine and Mr. Brown.

KIWANIS CLUB IN
AUSPICIOUS STARTPermanent Organization Effected
Here Tuesday Night, With Visit-

CHARTER MEMBERSHIP OF 56

Speeches by Lieut. Gov. Bromert, Representatives of Connerville and Newcastle at Banquet

The Rushville Kiwanis club was formally organized at a meeting in the Knights of Pythias building Tuesday night, officers and directors being elected and a standard constitution and by-laws adopted.

The club is now pointing all its efforts to making preparations for the presentation of the charter, which ceremony will take place the latter part of this month or the first of next month.

The principal address was made at the permanent organization of the club by John N. Bromert, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis clubs and talks were also made by Samuel L. Trabue and William A. Young, president and secretary, respectively, of the local club; John R. Browne, state director of Kiwanis clubs, of Marion; Myron Levison, president of the Connerville Kiwanis club; F. M. Beale, past president of the Newcastle Kiwanis club, and Horace Burr, also of Newcastle.

The Rushville club has not yet decided on a meeting place or which day of the week the meetings will be held. It is regarded as likely that the weekly sessions will be in the evening. These matters will be left to the board of directors or special committees to make investigations and recommendations to the club.

Samuel L. Trabue, who has been acting as president of the temporary organization since the organization of a Kiwanis club was started, was elected president, and the other temporary officers were chosen as follows:

George Hogsett, vice-president; William A. Young, secretary, and Lewis M. Sexton, treasurer. J. T. Arbuckle was selected for district trustee and members of the board of directors were elected as follows: Clara L. Bebout, Fred M. Hammer, Harry Kramer, Byron Cowing, Charles S. Green, W. V. Brown and Fred G. Arbuckle.

COUNCIL ADJOURNS
TO MEET AGAIN APR. 1No Action To Be Taken on Proposed Bond Issues Until Attorney General Gives Opinion

TO CONVENE FRIDAY, HOWEVER

The county council, which was called in special session today to pass on the proposed bond issue to construct a consolidated school building in Richland township, adjourned until April 1 pending an opinion from the attorney general of the state as to whether the council has jurisdiction.

The council is also called to meet Friday to pass on the bond issue to pay for the paving of Harrison and Eighth streets, but will take the same action at that time unless the attorney general rules on the matter before Friday. It was decided today it would be necessary for the council to convene Friday regardless of the developments in the matter.

When a copy of the law restoring jurisdiction over local bond issues to the state board of tax commissioners, Tuesday, the county auditor called the attorney general and he gave the opinion informally that the county could still pass on these two matters. The law firm of Smith, Hornbrook and Smith of Indianapolis, who have acted in several bond matters, were also asked for an opinion and gave the reverse of the attorney general. The law taking authority from the county council to act on bond issues when a remonstrance is filed, was passed by the recent session of the legislature.

SAYS WITHDRAWAL WOULD BE MISTAKEJohn H. Kiplinger Believes United States Should Remain in Inter-allied Organizations

WRITES TO REP. ELLIOTT

Former Rushville Attorney, Member of Commission, Hopes America Will Remain in

In a letter to Congressman R. N. Elliott of the sixth district, who is now at his home in Connerville, John H. Kiplinger, former Rushville attorney who is in Wiesbaden, Germany, expresses the hope that the foreign policy of the new administration will not involve a complete withdrawal from the United States from the interallied organizations created as a direct or indirect result of the treaty of peace.

Mr. Kiplinger, it will be remembered, organized Company B here and later became captain of the headquarters company of the 139th Field artillery, with which he went to France. Soon after the 139th landed in France, the armistice was signed, and Capt. Kiplinger was appointed as the United States member of the inter-allied commission to supervise restitution under the treaty. He writes in part as follows:

"Our present position and, in fact, the present position of Europe, is due to a great extent to the actions of the organizations created by the treaty and to the manipulations which have taken place through them. I am inclined to believe that the United States can do more for itself and more for Europe as a whole by remaining in such organizations and insisting on the establishment and carrying out of definite business policies. It is necessary that we continue to render assistance and aid to Europe and European industries."

"One who has not been connected with the reparation commission can hardly imagine the things that have been accomplished through it. The shipping situation, particularly the German shipping situation, has to a large extent been controlled by it."

"This commission is practically in control of the dye situation. It will fix a standard price for many articles and will control competition."

TEACH CHILDREN TO AVOID CONSUMPTIONSpeakers of Anti-Tuberculosis Division of State Board of Health in Meetings Tuesday

INFECTION CAN'T BE AVOIDED

The anti-tuberculosis division of the state board of health, which was represented by three people in a series of meetings here Tuesday, aims to teach the school children of the state that consumption can be avoided by clean living, according to Dr. W. H. McKane, leader of the division, who spoke to school children during the afternoon and addressed a meeting at the Graham Annex auditorium Tuesday night. The addresses at the night meeting by Dr. McKane and Miss Elsie McKane, child welfare worker, were illustrated by motion pictures shown by O. H. Laws, the third member of the party.

Dr. McKane in his talks pointed out that no way has been found to prevent tuberculosis infection, but that consumption could be prevented by observing the proper standards of living. He said it was possible to teach the children these facts, but that most older people were "set" in their ways and could not be persuaded to change their mode of living much. He stated that tuberculosis experts had found most tuberculosis infection came in childhood and that it was essential to teach children the necessity of not allowing the deadly germ to get in its work.

Rushville Merchants Enjoy Good
Patronage on Bargain Day

Rushville merchants had their second experience with Dollar Day today and this afternoon reports were to the effect that business was unusually good. The majority of the business houses of the city were offering Dollar bargains as special inducements to customers to trade.

The first Dollar Day was held just four weeks ago today and proved such a success that leading merchants arranged for another one today.

VIRGIL DECKER
GIVES NEW CLUEYoung Man Accused in Atwood Murder Mystery Tells Story Implicating Another

UNCLE MAKES STATEMENT

Says Virgil Was Nervous and Apparently in Trouble Sunday Morning When at His House

(By United Press)

Marion, Ind., Mar. 16.—A new angle in the Atwood murder mystery developed here today in the questioning of Virgil Decker, 20, arrested by Sheriff Fowler, in connection with the killing of Leroy Lovett, Decker's 19-year-old "double" who was killed Saturday night.

Decker was grilled throughout the night and with the arrival of three officials from Warsaw, he was taken to the scene of the crime where he told a story which authorities believe would implicate another man whom Decker called "Guy."

The youth told the authorities that he and Lovett and some other fellow named Guy spent a pleasant evening Saturday at Elkhart. He declared they had planned a trip to South America and rented an automobile and drove to the cottage near the banks of the Tippecanoe River on the rear of the farm tenanted by Fred Decker, brother of Virgil Decker, with whom the latter stayed.

The cottage was a summer cottage owned by C. A. Rowenstein, Atwood merchant, where authorities found the blood stained bed clothing. Tracks were also found which lead to the place where the buggy was placed on the Pennsylvania railroad crossing and where Lovett was found dying.

Decker, according to authorities admitted that he had been at his brother's home but denied of being inside of the cottage.

Coroner Aspinall who conducted the inquest, claimed that Lovett was killed so that Fred Decker might collect the $24,000 life insurance in view of the close resemblance of his brother Virgil and Lovett.

Isaac Decker, uncle of Virgil, made a sworn statement in the presence of Sheriff Fowler and other officials today, which authorities believe is another step toward the clearing of the mystery. He said Virgil came to his home Sunday morning nervous and apparently in trouble. After remaining in the house a short time, the statement said, Virgil left, saying he wanted to talk to his brother over the long distance telephone. "When he returned he was more nervous than when he left, but when I accused him of being in trouble, he made an emphatic denial," the statement says.

In a statement to Sheriff Fowler Decker said he could not remember where he was Saturday night and Sunday. His answers were vague and at times contradictory.

The usual routine of business was transacted last night by the members of the city council, who held their regular meeting, and it being the first meeting in which Walter Pearce, newly appointed councilman, was present, Mayor Scudder read over his list of committee appointments, which was made necessary by the shift in the membership of the councilmen.

The new committee appointments each consist of three members of the council, with the first mentioned being chairman of the committee. The list is as follows:

The two petitions were handed over to the committee on streets and alleys for an investigation, and a report is due.

DIVERSITY OF 'FACTS' ABOUT SAINT PATRICKRotarians Develop Many New Things Regarding Man Who Drove Snakes From Ireland

BIRTHPLACE IN QUESTION

A great diversity of "facts" regarding the life of St. Patrick were developed at the regular meeting of the Rotary club at the Social club Tuesday when each Rotarian was called on to relate something about the life of Ireland's patron saint. His birthplace was officially designated by a number of speakers as Wales, others alleged he was born in Scotland and still others were willing to wager Ireland was his native heath.

All were agreed, however, that he was the first prohibitionist, in driving the snakes from Ireland, and that he accomplished in a short time what it has taken the people of the United States more than a century to do. There was no dispute about his natal day, although a poem was read by one Rotarian which explained that Irish factions arose, one contending it to be Feb. 8 and the other, Feb. 9, and that the seventeenth, the total of the two, was a compromise.

Each Rotarian found a "snake" at his place and bouquets of green carnations adorned the tables. The table cloth was replaced with green crepe paper. Dr. W. H. McKane, director of the anti-tuberculosis division of the state board of health, who was here for a lecture, was a guest at the meeting, and contributed to the St. Patrick's day program, himself being of Irish descent.

PENNSYLVANIA WAGE CUT IS ANNOUNCED

Reductions to Take Effect April 20.
According to Telegram Received Here

GRIEVANCES TO BE HEARD

L. C. Snodgrass, passenger agent here for the consolidated offices of the Pennsylvania railroad and C. I. & W. line, today received a telegram from A. D. Conder, manager of the local division of the Pennsylvania system, in which it was made known that a wage reduction would be made on April 20. The message stated in part: "Notices will be placed on bulletin boards of the Pennsylvania railroad system not later than Thursday of this week informing officers, subordinate officials and employees that changed conditions officers, subordinate officials became effective, warrant a reduction in salaries and wages, and the management proposes to make the reduction on April 20, reductions to be made to accord with economizing conditions."

Before the wage reduction goes into effect all departments of the railroad will be heard concerning grievances and a list also will be posted giving the dates for the different meetings. Clerical and station clerks will be heard on April 9. Trainmen, shopmen, yardmen, telegraphers and all others will be heard according to their classification.

The message stated further that, "The procedure outlined in the notice is in strict accordance with the terms of the transportation act of 1920 which provides that in event of inability to reach an agreement respecting wage revision in conferences such as those proposed, the matter will be referred to the United States Railroad Labor Board."

Amusements

Elaine Hammerstein Tonight

"Poor Dear Margaret Kirby", by Kathleen Norris, will be Elaine Hammerstein's next Selznick Picture to be shown at the Princess Theatre today, and the readers of this novel will agree that nothing could be found which is better suited for Miss Hammerstein's personality.

Margaret Kirby is the wife of John Kirby a man of considerable means. One of her admirers is Ruthford Pell, also a wealthy man. One day, through force of financial reverses, John Kirby is pressed for ready cash. He asks Margaret to negotiate a loan from Pell. She indignantly refuses. A few days later Kirby returns home a ruined man, and the first sight he witnesses is Pell placing a valuable string of pearls around Margaret's neck. Hastily jumping at conclusions Kirby attempts suicide by taking poison. He is frustrated, but the poison has entered his system and he becomes a physical wreck. Upon the reports of the loss of the Kirby's money their social friends desert them, and it devolves upon Margaret to become the breadwinner of the family. How she does this and keeps the pathetic results of their actual status concealed from John Kirby is aid to constitute a most appealing story.

"The Boomerang," Mystic

One of the most peculiar and out of the ordinary characters ever presented on stage or screen is to be seen in the Pioneer Film Corporation's great seven part feature, "The Boomerang," which comes to the Mystic theatre today. The role is enacted by Jack MacDonald, who plays the part of a Vulture, a man who makes a living by selling information of values, a sneaking sort of an individual who, when in the employ of one faction gathers up information that would be of assistance to others and sells it. All through the story this peculiar character is in evidence, many of the big scenes being built around his activities. But this is only one of the hundred and one things that make "The Boomerang" a photo-drama that everyone should see. It stars Henry B. Walthall, it tells a story, written by William Hamilton Osborne of timely interest and it has been endorsed by the United States Department of Labor and The Consumers' League.

The club is making an auspicious start with fifty-six charter members, all of whom attended the organization meeting and enjoyed the splendid addresses. The lieutenant governor outlined the ideals of Kiwanis, pointing out the advantages accruing and the fellowship which is developed in clubs. He also showed that co-operation in all local enterprises for the betterment of the community come as a natural result from the teachings of the organization.

The president and secretary of the Rushville club prophesied a successful future for the organization and the speakers from Newcastle and Connersville brought greetings from their clubs to the Rushville infant. There was a delegation of eleven from Newcastle and more than a dozen from Connersville Clubs have been organized in both these cities during the last year.

The carnival spirit was uppermost at the banquet and the guests enjoyed the event immensely. All of the Kiwanians wore crepe paper hats. George Eckert, who is in charge of the community service organization at Connersville and is a member of the club there, led in the singing of Kiwanis and community songs.

Miniature flags of Ireland served as place cards and souvenirs and there were numerous table noquets of red, white and green carnations. Music was provided by the McGinnis orchestra, composed of Mrs. Francis Knecht at the piano; Charles S. Sherman on the saxophone and Fred McGinnis on the drums.

The Pythian Sisters served a splendid banquet in fine style, which was the source of many compliments.

The standard constitutions and by laws of the international association were adopted and President Trabue will appoint a committee to suggest amendments to fit local conditions.

MODEL ORDINANCE UP TO COMMITTEE

on the matter at the next meeting.

The matter of redecorating the firemen's headquarters on the second floor of the city building was brought up, and it was stated that the interior was badly in need of wall paper. Several bids were received, and the matter was left with the fire committee to act.

Mayor Seudder also stated that he had appointed Dr. Will C. Smith to fill the vacancy in the city board of health, caused by the death of Dr. C. H. Parsons. The board consists of Dr. J. B. Kinsinger, secretary, and Dr. D. H. Dean and Dr. Smith as the other two members.

The councilmen then went into sanitary conditions existing in Rushville, and a model of an ordinance used in Anderson was read, in which vault cleaning is licensed to individuals with a stipulated price, and included other matters pertaining to the disposal of waste matter.

The matter of passing a sanitary ordinance was looked upon favorably, and the copy of the Anderson ordinance was given to the ordinance committee, for the purpose of drafting plans to make it apply locally.

In this connection the matter of garbage collection, which was brought up recently, was again discussed. Several cities in this section have ordinances regarding garbage disposal and these were handed to the committee to look over and report at the next meeting.

While the council talked of sanitary questions discussion drifted to the passing of an ordinance several months ago, in which venereal diseases were to be reported to the city health officers and quarantine established, the same as in any contagious disease. Since the passage of the ordinance, which cost the city about $100, not a single case has been reported, and it has been called to the attention of the councilmen that there are many deplorable cases existing here, and that the situation may become alarming unless the ordinance is enforced at once.

The disease referred to is of a loathsome character and is quite costly in the treatment. The state board of health is also urging legislation along these lines, and in order to eradicate the disease will cooperate with physicians and cities by providing the necessary medicine at a discount. Several cities in this vicinity have established free clinics, which may result here, in order to prevent innocent people from being exposed.

William Eck of North Willow street was granted permission to move a house to the corner of George and Ninth streets, upon deposit of the usual bond.

"It may be of interest to you to know that the suggested policy of at least a portion of the present United States delegation at the reparation commission is that the United States should cancel all indebtedness owing from France, Belgium, England, etc., and in return therefore should receive an assignment of the unexecuted obligations of Germany as stipulated by the peace treaty. This would mean, of course, the United States' assuming the entire enforcement of the remaining treaty obligations as well as assuming the burdens connected therewith. Personally, I am unable to see where there would be any assets, as all available assets have, at the present time been gobbled up by our former allies. I think cancellation would be the biggest crime ever committed against the country".

The Garden of Your Dreams

Department of Agriculture officials vouch for the statement that the interest in home gardens, aroused during the war, is not subsiding, but growing. This is one of the greatest indirect benefits of the war.

There was a time when it looked like flat life and refrigerator ears might uproot the American home from its nourishing contact with the soil; but the tide has turned, and on one knows it better than the real estate salesman who no longer proclaim the advantages of their city lots, but appeal to the home-builder with "small farms" and "garden subdivisions".

Spring in our latitude makes everyone yearn for the country; and a chance to plant a garden. It is probably true that there are ten that yearn for every one that plants. We sympathize with those who are obliged to take their gardening out in dreams, and yet there surely must be many who, if they would only make the effort, could realize their dreams in part at least.

Inexperience and fear of failure hold many back. We are going to publish a series of gardening articles which will overcome both these handicaps for those that care to read them. Plant a garden this year, and make your dreams come true.

Viviani Popular Here

M. Viviani is said to be the man chosen by the French to negotiate with the United States the refunding of the debt owned by France to the American treasury. He is no stranger to this country, having headed the delegation that visited our shores soon after we entered the war. The reception accorded him and Marshal Joffre by the two houses of congress and at every point they visited is probably a lively memory with the former French premier. There can be no doubt that the cordial relations established in 1917 will be emphasized by M. Vi-ciani's forthcoming visit. The evidences of indebtedness of the government of France to the United States are so explicit as to occasion little discussion. They are subject to refunding into long-time bonds whenever our secretary of the Treasury may request it, and the matter for negotiation is merely the language that shall be used in the bonds.
Repudiation or cancellation of the French debt to America, is a suggestion that happily has never been heard.

Go to Work

Many people are of the opinion that now that the new administration is in office and its views are fairly well known, there should be no further delay in the revival of business throughout the country.

Every change of administration brings its period of doubt and uncertainty. The moneyed interests do not know just how far it is safe to go, hence they set the brakes, and mark time by a temporary curtain-ment of expenditures. This produces a natural slump in business that is designated by some as hard times.

Mr. Harding has indicated that he desires a conservative but progressive administration, free from entangling foreign alliances, and with the protection that should be afforded legitimate business interests in every section of the country.

It is time for big business to get down to the steady grind again, and for little business to hit the same pace.

Everybody go to work at something!

When the Lord created the earth he gave to man the means of protecting himself against all of the things that walk or crawl thereon—except the profiteer. He slipped a cog there.

Are you consumed with a desire to travel, young man? Then start right by sympathetically beating a path from your home to your place of business. The rest will come easy.

Why worry over the possibility of another war? Having had our eye teeth cut, the rest of us should be able to get rich then.

All men at heart are much the same. But fortunately, the heart is a mighty small portion of the human anatomy.

Current Comment

(Omaha Bee)

Suspicion that one is being made a fool produces a most uncomfortable feeling, and it has been the fear that America was being imposed upon that made our foreign policy of late so confused. At times it has appeared that other nations must be laughing up their sleeves at Uncle Sam, and this feeling is so utterly destructive of mutual understanding as to be a positive peril.

When we went into the war, there were groups who declared that we had been hoodwinked.

At the peace conference the same uneasy self-consciousness revived.

When America took none of the spoils of war, some questioned whether we had not been imposed upon.

Now, in our dealings with Japan, with England and with every other nation, something of the old confidence has disappeared. We imagine that while words may be fair, there is behind them the intention to take an advantage of our lack of diplomatic adroitness, or to call it by its real name, American straightforwardness. This atmosphere of misgiving and doubt is not a healthful one, nor would a sudden resolve to begin a new policy of double dealing in order to hold our own bring improvement.

For these reasons, among others it is a lifeless and reassuring thing that a change in administration has taken place. And with Charles Evans Hughes in the position of secretary of state, this injurious and fantastic picture of America as a babe in the woods will soon be dispelled.

MINER'S PAY ENVELOPE IS MUCH LARGER NOW

"I Believe I'm The Happiest Man in Indiana Since I Got My Health Back," Says Kennedy—Praises Tanlac.

"I have to hand it to this Tanlac, for it certainly did the work for me," said Paul Kennedy, R. F. D. B. West Terre Haute, a miner in the employe of the Vandalia Coal Co.

"For two years I suffered the worst way from indigestion. I had no appetite and what I did eat didn't agree with me, I used to have awful dizzy spells, black spots danced before my eyes and I felt sickish and faintly. I slept very little at night and would get up in the morning feeling miserable. I spent a lot of money for different medicines but somehow they didn't fit my case and I didn't know where to turn, when a friend advised me to take Tanlac.
It took hold of my troubles at once and I began to feel better in every way.

"I feel like a different man now. I eat three square meals a day, never feel a bit of distress afterwards and I have gained ten pounds in weight.
I sleep like a log all night and bounce out of bed in the morning feeling fit and fine, eat a big breakfast and go off to work whistling.
There isn't a man on the job can mine more coal in a day than I can and the old pay envelope is lots fatter because I never lose an hour from work. Why, before Tanlac built me up I lost at least half time."

Tanlac is sold in Rushville by F.

in Arlington by Mrs. L. T. Davis, in Carthage by Otto C. McCarty, and

Do you know the facts about building costs?

Do you know that lumber and building materials are down?

Have you talked to us lately about building?

Do you know how reasonably you can make needed repairs, build your new home, or remodel your old one?

Better get in touch with the situation at once.

The big building program that was expected in 1920 failed to develop. The manufacturers were caught with too large stocks, and were forced to turn them over at almost cost.

We can show you a substantial saving on every item in our line.

But it's only fair to tell you this condition may be only temporary. The country is short more than a million homes. Our own city is short many homes. When people begin to do this long delayed building, demand will increase rapidly, creating another shortage of materials, and prices will advance again.

If you are planning to build, remodel, or repair, come in and let us give you figures. Then when we show you the actual savings over last year's prices and show you how favorably present costs compare with those of 1914, make your own decision.

HEZE CLARK PICKS MYTHICAL FIVES

United Press Sport Writer Makes Selection For Three All States Teams From Colleges

JOB PROVED A HARD ONE

Late Games of Several College Teams Completely Changed Original Plans of Dopesters

Here is Heze Clark's all state college basketball selection, as given the United Press. On the first team the forward positions are held by Cannon (DePauw) and Goldsberry (Wabash), and the center position by Dean (Indiana); the two guards are White (Purdue) and Miller (Purdue).

The second team as picked by the sport writer is as follows: Adams (Wabash) and Hooker (Butler) forwards; Mehre (Notre Dame) center; Burns (Wabash) and Dobbins (Indiana) at guards.

For a third selection he places the following team in the field: McDermott (Notre Dame) and DeHority (Indiana) at forwards; White (DePauw), center; Whitter (Dentals) and Mendenhall (DePauw) guards.

Several places on the honorable mention list are given, and the following players are included:

Forwards: Gibson (DePauw); Marxson (Indiana); Winters (State Normal); Masters (Purdue).

Centers: Ecklund, (Valparaiso); Coffing (Purdue); Carey, (Earlham); Standau (Rose Poly); Graham (Franklin).

Guards: Grater (Wabash); O'Brien (St. Joseph College); Strohl (Franklin); Conover (State Normal) Brown (Butler).

By HEZE CLARK

(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 16.—With the close of the college basketball season, the time to select the All-State Basketball teams has come. For more than a month the critics have selected mythical state teams, but the results of late season games have caused close followers of the great indoor sport to change their opinions of some of the players and not until the last game has been played was the time ripe for an all-state selection.

By comparative scores are all things proved. Not a college team in the state but has been defeated by another college team. For example Indiana defeated DePauw and the Tigers won one and lost one with Wabash, and the Little Giants twice defeated Purdue, but Purdue twice defeated Indiana, while DePauw twice defeated Notre Dame and the Catholics lost to Wabash and defeated Wabash, and Indiana State Normal defeated Wabash, but Butler won two games from State Normal and two games from Earlham and Wabash and Purdue each defeated Butler twice. The Butler team lost one, and won one with Franklin and Franklin lost two games to Earlham but defeated Hanover, Butler won two of the three games played with the Indiana Dental College, and the Dentals won one and lost one with the Earlham team. The Quakers defeated Purdue, but lost two games to Wabash and were defeated by DePauw. Rose Poly played losing basketball being twice defeated by the Dentals, twice by Butler, three times by State Normal, once by Purdue, but Rose Poly defeated Franklin.

There is a Chinese puzzle—who is champion? Notre Dame defeated Valparaiso University and Valpo came back and defeated Notre Dame.

From the puzzle of scores the critics have selected a few champions by using the percentage system. In the Big Ten Conference Purdue is tie for the championship with Michigan and Wisconsin. The I. C. A. L. championship goes to Butler which team lost but one I. C. A. L. game that being to Franklin. Butler also won the Indianapolis college basketball championship by defeating the Dentals in the third game of the series.

In spite of the fact that no team has a clear title to the championship of the state of Indiana many claiming that honor, still the play of some athletes stood out so far ahead of all others that they must be named on the mythical teams called the All-State. Nine critics have chosen three forwards, three guards and two centers but if a man is good enough for All-State he should be one of five, not of eight.

Young Womanhood

So, Bend, Ind.—A prescription saved my life years ago after the doctors had given me up. I was only fifteen years of age. I was bedfast for more than two months, doctoring all the time but getting too weak to even raise my hand. I owe so much to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that I feel it my duty to send this statement hoping it will be the means of restoring other girls to a healthy womanly development by proving to them that 'Prescription' is the right medicine for them to take.—Mrs. Lily Keith, 627 S. TO PLANT 100,000 TREES AT RESERVE

To be a Part of Indiana's Program to Increase The Timber Supply of This State

INCLUDES 50,000 WHITE PINE

Rapidly Diminishing Supply of Trees Has Proved That State Must Act Quickly

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 15.—A part of Indiana's program to increase the timber supply of this state will be the planting of 100,000 trees this spring at the state forest reserve near Henryville, it became known today. These plantings will be supplemented by the planting of enough seed in the nursery to raise a million or more trees which will be ready for setting out in a few years.

According to department of conservation officials 50,000 white pine alone will be planted in abandoned fields on the reserve. State Forester Deam has determined through experiments that this species is especially adapted to fields devoid of fertility as regards agricultural production.

At this time there are 175 acres of former arable lands planted to forest on which about twenty species of trees are grown for experimental purposes. It is the plan of the state forester to replant this area this year in order to have a thick forest growth when the trees reach any size.

Among the problems being solved at the state forest reserve is what kind of trees are best suited for reforesting worn out fields. This season some fields will be divided into two parts. One part will be cleared but planted to the same species and number of trees, this experiment to determine if it is necessary to clear a field grown up thickly in sassafras, persimmon and briars, before it should be planted to trees in order to insure maximum results. All plantings will be in rows up and down the hill sides to learn what species do best on high and low ground. To determine what other trees will be set out.

Mr. Deam advises land owners who wish to plant white pine to select trees three to four years old, while ash, tulip, wild cherry and the like need only be one to two years old. These trees should be spaced 5 x 5 and 6 x 6 feet as they grow more vigorous thus spaced and are better able to resist killing insects. By planting many thousands of seed in the tree nursery the state expects in a year or so to furnish trees to land owners expected to take advantage of a law recently enacted enabling them to devote some of their lands to forest production without great personal sacrifice.

Persons interested in the reforestation of Indiana's denuded hillsides and waste and unproductive rocky lands, see in the attitude of Governor McCray who is an enthusiastic advocate of an adequate forestry policy, bright prospects for the state to make great headway in timber production in the future. In the best hardwoods in the world, citizens witness the destruction of mighty tracts and remained inactive. The rapidly diminishing supply all over the nation and especially in this commonwealth, has lately proved the wisdom that Indiana cannot begin to act too quickly if succeeding generations are to have sufficient timber for economic and industrial uses.

Fair Jurors Object To Sex Cases, While Shaw Defends Male Morals

By FLOYD ALLEN (U. P. Staff Correspondent)

London, (By Mail).—The first divorce trial by a mixed jury brought protest from the fair sex, and a blast from George Bernard Shaw.

When the six jurywomen had tripped daintily into the jury-box, Sir Edward Marshall Hall opened his case for the co-respondent—an alleged erring wife—with diffidence and regretfully stated that the case was a particularly unsavoury one.

When Sir Edward read passages from the man's letters several of the women shaded their faces with their hats. Their second sign of agitation was when a drawing was handed to the jury for inspection. It was in the nature of two outwardly blank cards pasted together, which had to be held to a strong light to reveal a picture of indecency Justice Horridge deprecated the necessity of showing anything so sordid to the women and while a court-usher was busy holding a match behind the transparency for the benefit of the made jurors, the women hurriedly protested that they were ready to take the men's word for its unseemliness.

All the letters and evidence connected with the case were so redolent of sex suggestion as to make this first experience of jury work a very trying one for the women involved.

Married men are writing to the courts, as well as to the press to announce that they would rather pay fines than allow their wives or daughters to be exposed to such enforced intimacy with sordid details of human viciousness. Newspapers are full of public protestations against the new system. Only a few women are in favor of it.

In addition, George Bernard Shaw saw fit to write to the press, asking to be allowed, as a member of the male sex, to protest against the whole of the proceedings. He pointed out that, according to the manner of conducting the case, the conclusion seems to be arrived at that all men are familiar with obscene picture cards. He is indignant that the men should have been asked to examine such documents and "tell the innocent women what they thought about them". He continued:

"Now I am a married man in my sixty-fifth year; and I solemnly protest that I am entirely guiltless of this alleged male habit of reading abominable and beastly letters and gloating over pornographic pictures. "Sir Edward Marshall Hall's assumption that my sensibilities in this matter are less delicate than those of women is not only unfounded, but extremely offensive. Why in the name of commonsense did this blushing barrister exude the six jurywomen from the apology which he thought it necessary to make for presenting them to the six jurywomen?"

Much was said in the press of the fact that three of the jurywomen were unmarried. G. B. S. pointed out that for all anyone knew, all six jurywomen were unmarried. He also expressed his indignation that one of the jurywomen at least, should not have formed her own opinion of the transparency. The jurywoman in question was Miss Lillian Barker, a well-known rescue and welfare worker.

I need not emphasize the gross absurdity," said Shaw, "of referring Miss Lillian Barker, whose extraordinary record as a welfare worker to say nothing of her present responsible employment, makes her judgment more valuable in any question of domestic morality than that of the whole British Bar and Bench, to the nearest jurymen, possibly a bashful novice of twenty-two for instructions as to what she should think of an improper picture."

This letter of Shaw's raised another moot question—Is it worse for a woman of thirty or more, whether married or unmarried, to be shown such obscene documents, than it is for a young man of twenty-two regardless of whether he is married or not? Women may only vote when they have reached the year of thirty, therefore they must be over 30 before they are called to a jury.

CONTROVERSY DRAWS TO A CLIMAX TODAY

Butchers and Meat Cutters Take Strike Vote Which May Lead to Sympathetic Walkout

SOME PLANTS CLOSE DOWN

Chicago, Ill., Mar. 16.—The controversy between the packers and the employees was rapidly drawing toward a climax today. The developments were:

Taking of strike vote among the butchers and meat cutters.

Meeting of representatives of all union employees of packing companies to consider a walkout of all employees if they are in sympathy with the butchers and meat cutters if they strike.

Closing down of independent packing companies in the stock yard districts in view of unsettled conditions.

Arrangements continue for mediation conferences in Washington with government officials.

The taking of a strike vote proceeded without any disturbances. Booths were erected at the main gate leading to the packing plants and the men cast their ballots as they went to work. Early returns of the vote indicated they were in favor of a strike. About 2,000 men have been thrown out of work by the closing down of small independent packing companies.

NEIDEFFER TO PLAY HERE

Signed by Tail Lights For Season, it is Announced

Manager John Conway of the Tail Lights stated today that he had just signed a contract with Neideffer, who will be one of the pitchers for the Rushville team this year. The pitcher is well known here as he played several games here last year, twice defeating the locals, and in each game allowed only a few scattered hits.

It also was announced that a dance will be held on Easter Monday, March 28 at the Modern Appliance building, for the purpose of raising money to buy uniforms for the Tail Lights for the coming season.

REAP WHAT WE SOW, EVANGELIST ASSERTS

Evangelist Ford Gives Interesting Talk at Church of God Revival Services

GOOD OR BAD SEED SOWN

Evangelist Samuel Ford gave a very interesting talk last night at the church of God, where he is holding a revival. He took for his subject "Be not deceived that is not knocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap," Gal. 5-7.

He pointed out that we were all sowing some kind of a seed either good or bad, and it should behoove us to be careful what kind of seed we are sowing, for we are going to reap what we sow. "If we expect a good harvest in the end we must sow now, but if we are sowing evil seed now our harvest will be eternal destruction," he said. Many other interesting points were brought out during his talk.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock, this week. A welcome is extended to the public to attend.

HAUGHS AGAIN IN A LEGAL BATTLE

Indianapolis Couple, Divorced Here, Quarrel Over Possession of Dorland Jewels

SCENE SHIFTS TO BUFFALO

Frequent Echoes of Trial, as Result of Which Petition for Modifying Decree is Pending

J. Guy Haugh of Indianapolis and his divorced wife, Marguerite Haugh, who caused so much trouble for local court officials here two years ago, are in court again.

The scene of the latest chapter in the affairs of this couple is laid in Buffalo, N. Y., where Haugh sued his ex-wife and the Manufacturers and Traders bank of Buffalo, for possession of the famous Dorland jewels.

Haugh filed suit for divorce from his wife in July, 1915, and the divorce was granted after a change of venue by Judge Sparks. The court ordered their two children sent to the Indianapolis orphan's home. Later the children were taken from the orphanage by their father without an order from the court.

The next chapter in the romance was on the night following their divorce, when Mrs. Haugh attempted to shoot her husband. She was tried for assault with intent to kill, but was freed of this charge. Later she went to New York for residence.

A petition for modification of the divorce decree, giving Mrs. Haugh the custody of the children, is now pending before Judge Sparks. Judge Sparks, after granting a divorce, placed the children in the custody of two Indianapolis people, but they asked to be relieved of their charges and Judge Sparks sent them to the Indianapolis orphan's home.

A dispatch from Buffalo today relates that Haugh and his former wife both appeared in court there Tuesday when Haugh started action to get possession of the Dorland jewels, valued at $20,000. According to Haugh's testimony, he, in 1911, left New York for a trip to France, just after having inherited a large collection of ancient jewels by Anna Dorland of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Haugh, before her marriage, was Mlle. Marguerite Castaign of LaRoche, France, the daughter of a colonel in the French army. It was by the merest chance that she and Haugh became acquainted, and their friendship ripened rapidly into a love affair that led to their marriage. Haugh and Mlle. Castaign met aboard the Niagara while both were going to Europe, Haugh having been prevented by some trick of fate from sailing on an earlier vessel. Mlle. Castaign was on her way home from a visit in Philadelphia and became acquainted with Miss Frances Haugh who later became her sister-in-law. Miss Haugh presented her brother to Mlle. Castaign and before the passage was completed they were close friends.

After spending some time in London, Haugh went to visit Mlle. Castaign, who at that time was living with Mlle. Gabrielle DuSouchet, where she had spent the time after the death of her father. Before Haugh rejoined his sister in London, he proposed to Mlle. Castaign, but received no definite answer.

Haugh returned to London, and soon afterward sailed for the United States on the Franconia. While aboard the boat Haugh sent his second proposal to Mlle. Castaign, using the wireless. In a short time the operator on the Franconia presented Mlle. Castaign's answer to him, and it was "Yes." Haugh came home and the woman later came on to New York, where they were married Sept. 14, 1911. One of the groom's wedding presents to the bride was a $10,000 necklace. They went to Indianapolis to live.

Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use.

Soon the wife began to chide him for having the Dorland jewels, Haugh testified, and the quarrels became more violent daily. He finally had them removed to a bank vault, where they stayed until he permitted his wife to wear them at a function in 1917. Afterward she reported they had been stolen.

When Catherine Buehl, secretary to the Rev. Philip Frick, formerly of Indianapolis, died in Buffalo, however, an appraisal of her estate showed the Dorland jewels to be in her safety deposit vault in the Manufacturers' and Traders' bank. It is the contention of lawyers in the case that Mrs. Haugh, instead of losing the jewels, forwarded them here to Mrs. Buehl for safe keeping.

Before the jewels had been found, however, in May 1919, Haugh divorced his wife at Rushville.

Mrs. Haugh denied she took the jewels, but that her husband had given them to her on her wedding day. She produced in evidence photographic copies of newspapers of that date where he was quoted as saying he had given her his jewel collection.

Spread out on the desk of Justice Charles B. Wheeler, who heard the case in Buffalo, were the famous Dorland jewels, the bone of contention between the two according to the testimony in the case, the cause of all the trouble which followed Haugh's whirlwind two days' courtship of the woman who became his wife.

While the trial was on, deputy sheriffs sat close beside both Haugh and his wife. They had been instructed closely to watch Mrs. Haugh, who after being divorced by Haugh in 1919, made an unsuccessful attempt to shoot her ex-husband and his attorney.

C. O. Soon Shortens Sentence. Private Bings was incorrigible. His disposition had always been too merry and carefree to suit the commanding officer, but when he entered the post command whistling, it was altogether too much. "Binks," said the captain sternly, "you seem to like to whistle. I'll give you your chance. Stand there in the corner and whistle for one hour." Private Binks swung into the strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner." "Your sentence is mitigated to five minutes," said the captain, rising wearily to attention.—American Legion Weekly.

COUNTRIES AGREE ON CONTROL OF SEAS

Great Britain Will Patrol Atlantic and United States Will Guard The Pacific Ocean

IT IS GENERAL BELIEF

(By United Press)

London, Mar. 16.—Great Britain and America have agreed to a favorable division of the seas, according to the general belief here today.

As the result of the agreement it was believed Great Britain will patrol the Atlantic ocean and America the Pacific.

This impression was strengthened by two announcements from London and Washington on the same day. From Washington came the statement that the Pacific fleet will assume more importance than the Atlantic. From London came the announcement that Great Britain has reduced its navy budget by $70,000,000 thereby eliminating discussion of the cabinet with the American naval program.

There was a general belief here that friendly relations between United States and Great Britain would be greatly strengthened if American should go through with its proposed program of concentrating the naval power on the Pacific.

There will no longer be any question raised by the British as to "Who is America building against". Reports from Washington that America is considering putting the fleet in the Pacific is regarded here as an indication that the United States wants to impress on Japan what her naval strength is.

MAKING A GETAWAY OUT IN THE GARDEN

Trot out the seed lists and dig out the seed boxes and flats. If you haven't any soil available for indoor planting, go out and chop up a few frozen hunks and thaw and dry them out by the kitchen fire or by the furnace or on the steam coils and radiators.

That little 2 by 4 box in the window is the making of a big garden patch outside when only two or more months roll by. Start lettuce, for the early crop of large, crisp, solid heads. Get tomatoes, egg plants, and peppers going for the early crop. If you are going to raise some big onions start a box of onions from seed—that's the only way you can get them to stand to sell.

Put in a few seeds of early cabbage and cauliflower. If you got a hotbed ready last fall, you can get ready to start operations by accumulating a pile of fresh stable manure for it, and gently turning it to start it, heating and fermenting evenly before you put it in the bed for the seeds.

All these early seeds ought to be in by the 1st of this month if you want to have a first-class garden and get the benefit of it for the longest time. It is the only way possible to get early head lettuce, and in a majority of cases any head lettuce at all, for the big heads will form only during the cool months.

Study the seed catalogues for quality. Each year something a little better than last year's offering is likely to appear in some of the lists. Select only standard varieties known to be the best. Each seedsmen can tell you. Buy whenever possible only varieties of vegetable known to succeed in your neighborhood. Inquire of your neighbors what kinds they had best success with, and add it to your own experience. Whose tomatoes were the best last summer? What kind of tomato was it? Try it out yourself.

Try some other variety and see if it won't prove even better. There is great variation in the size and shape of tomatoes.

This is the time to get busy. An early start is half a garden.

"SLOUGH" MUST GO

Wellesley, Mass., Mar. 16.—Debutante slouches, and letter "S" figures are doomed with the arrival of the new Spring styles, is the view expressed by the department of hygiene at Wellesley College.

"Today, looser garments, introduced on the wave of popularity for sport clothes, will allow the girls a chance to stand up straight, letting the shoulders carry the bulk of the weight," says Miss Mary S. Haagen, instructor of gymnastics, in an interview.

"Wider participation in outdoor exercise is proving beneficial to young ladies' carriages," she believes.

How Glasses Preserve One's Youthful Appearance

It is often urged that glasses will make the wearer look old, but, as a matter of fact, wearing glasses is one of the best preservers of a youthful appearance.

This is because prolonged eyestrain causes wrinkles and "crow's feet" to appear prematurely and gives the countenance a strained, tired, drawn cross look which is far more to be avoided from a point of view of appearance, than from any real or fancied disfigurement caused by glasses.

We use particular care in fitting glasses and in the selection of mountings most becoming to each person's individual style of beauty.

Low Upkeep Increases Investment Value

The Chalmers is recognized as an exceedingly sound motor car investment. Its re-sale value is very high.

This is so because its upkeep and replacement costs are extremely low, and its life is long.

Increases Motoring Satisfaction

This money is saved. Moreover, the satisfaction derived from ownership and use of the Chalmers is greatly increased.

These things are largely due to the thorough care with which the Chalmers is built, and the engineering.

But mainly responsible for the fine and consistent performance of the Chalmers is its wonderful motor.

The Chalmers Motor

The fuel is pre-heated by the hot-spot before it enters the cylinders. This gives greater mileage on gasoline. It reduces wear on the motor, because it prevents lubrication troubles. Performance is greatly improved, and the necessity for motor overhauling is very much lessened.

We welcome an opportunity to explain in person the desirability of the Chalmers as a motor car investment.
